

Filter for PressureDisk

The PressureDisk filter is a cap that screws onto the internal thread of the data logger to prevent the sensor from being clogged or damaged by material residues. It is particularly suitable for food applications: you can use the logger directly immersed in the product without fear of damaging it or having to wash the cavities each time it is used.

Applications

Food & Beverages

